

AGLP

ASEAN GLOBAL LEADERSHIP PROGRAMME

25th - 29th March 2019, London, UK

“Leadership, Entrepreneurship and Innovation in the Global Economy”

FOREWORD

Dr Minouche Shafik DBE

LSE Director

From the Director of the London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE)

We are delighted that LSE will host its first edition of the ASEAN Global Leadership Programme, in association with SRW&Co., in the spring of 2019. LSE is a truly global institution which prides itself not only on world-class research and teaching but also the impact of that work around the world for different stakeholders in the public and private sectors, for which this programme is a great example. LSE is a global hub for leaders, from our young students to senior executives, and helps build the intellectual and strategic problem-solving abilities that make a difference in the world.

For LSE, the ASEAN region has great significance and so we are delighted to welcome the ASEAN Global Leadership Programme to LSE under the outstanding academic guidance of Professor Saul Estrin and Professor Michael Cox.

Daniel Wong

Chairman & Partner of SRW&Co.

From the Chairman & Partner of SRW&Co.

SRW&Co. is very pleased to announce the launching of the 1st edition of our ASEAN Global Leadership Programme (AGLP) in collaboration with the London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE) in the spring of 2019. This milestone 1st edition will be conducted in the LSE campus in London, UK from 25th-29th March, 2019.

The AGLP at LSE will be the 19th edition of SRW&Co.'s AGLP series that we had conducted with a number of top global business schools and universities since its inception in 2009. The objective of the AGLP is to provide business and public sector leaders from the ASEAN member countries with a global vision regarding topics of Globalisation, Entrepreneurship, Innovation and Leadership. Specifically, the participants will address the key challenges and opportunities arising from the formation of the ASEAN Economic Community (AEC) and share their experiences and insights with their fellow participants

The customised AGLP will provide value for leaders from the business and public sectors and to the ASEAN Community in general by drawing on LSE's internationally renowned expertise, teaching, research and global networks in designing and delivering the programme agenda and topics.

The 5-day program will provide a platform for the exchange of knowledge and experiences between the LSE faculty and the participants and to create networking opportunity among the group of participants. We had put together a very interesting and high impact programme agenda comprising classroom lectures, panel discussion, company site visits and a business networking event.

We look forward to welcoming the first batch of participants to our AGLP in LSE next spring.

Adam Austerfield

Director of Global Markets,
LSE Custom Programmes

From the Director of Global Markets, LSE Custom Programmes

As Director of LSE's Global Markets team in LSE Custom Programmes, I'm delighted to be closely involved with our senior faculty and SRW&Co. in designing a unique and highly bespoke experience for this first ASEAN Global Leadership Programme at LSE. As a graduate myself, I know first-hand the quality and vision of the LSE faculty, and their great ability to engage with a wide variety of audiences from around the world.

We know from the global portfolio of LSE Custom Programmes we design and manage, both in London and around the world, that the challenges facing senior management are changing at an unprecedented pace in an era of true global transformation. Thus the opportunity for the participants to contextualise this global change, distil the challenges into action plans, and make a difference to the future of their businesses is one I am sure you will all value in the years ahead.

Professor Emeritus Michael Cox

Programme Academic Director

From the LSE Programme Academic Directors

LSE has been successfully contributing to executive education initiatives for audiences of different seniority from all over the world for more than 25 years. With ASEAN Global Leadership Programme coming to the LSE for the first time in the spring of 2019, we are delighted to lead this exciting endeavour and bring LSE's expertise and strategic thinking to the programme whilst drawing on London's rich and diverse offerings.

This customised executive education programme creates a high-impact platform for contemporary leaders from the public and private sectors to exchange knowledge and experience with select LSE faculty, high-calibre guest speakers and senior expert practitioners. The opportunity to learn about, analyse and discuss best international practices in leadership, entrepreneurship and innovation across various sectors will be truly unique.

Professor Saul Estrin

Programme Academic Director

True to the LSE's founding mission we aim to explore and understand the 'causes of things' and in particular how globalisation works, how it impacts on South East Asia in particular, why it is now being questioned in many parts of the world today, and how the big shifts now taking place in the international system will shape the region going forward. Interaction and engagement in an intellectually rich discussion in and out-of-class are key to this programme, and together with substantial networking opportunities will form part of your journey to help advance you as leaders in the 21st century.

INFORMATION

THE LONDON SCHOOL OF ECONOMICS AND POLITICAL SCIENCE

The London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE) is one of the foremost social science universities in the world. Founded in 1895 with the purpose of the betterment of society, LSE has become a global leader in its academic discipline. Consisting of 23 academic departments and 22 research centres, LSE's research activities have been classed as world leading¹, and provide for the highest proportion of research contributions than any other UK university². Truly international in nature, LSE currently welcomes students and staff from over 130 countries, with 142,000 LSE alumni in over 200 countries worldwide. Moreover, 18 Nobel Prize winners and 37 world leaders have taught or studied at LSE. Following the motto to understand the causes of things and aiming to academically engage with real world issues, LSE has gained unprecedented experience in research, teaching and learning, as well as in knowledge transfer, through customised executive education programmes and by providing insights into cutting edge research relevant to academic and professional interests of organisations and individuals.

LSE is a unique institution that combines intellectual excellence and global reach.

Dr Minouche Shafik DBE, LSE Director

Custom Programmes

LSE Custom Programmes

works with LSE academics to customise executive education programmes for governments, public and private sector organisations. LSE Custom Programmes are designed and delivered world-wide, allowing our global partners to receive an LSE education experience that is tailored to specific needs and requirements. The programme design draws on the knowledge and expertise of LSE, enabling the delivery of programmes of high quality and impact for organisations and individuals. By facilitating customisation and flexibility, LSE Custom Programmes is able to match specific requirements precisely. With a wide breadth of expertise in managing the programmes we can ensure an efficient implementation of programmes and projects, which have a long-lasting impact on organisations and individuals. We have been able to deliver a wide variety of programmes to renowned institutions in both the public and private sectors and this has provided us with the knowledge and ability to ensure programme effectiveness and participant satisfaction.

Students and teachers from near and far are a big part of what makes LSE so special.

Prof Craig Calhoun FBA FAcSS, Former LSE Director

¹ Research Excellence Framework (REF) 2014

² QS World University Rankings 2015-2016

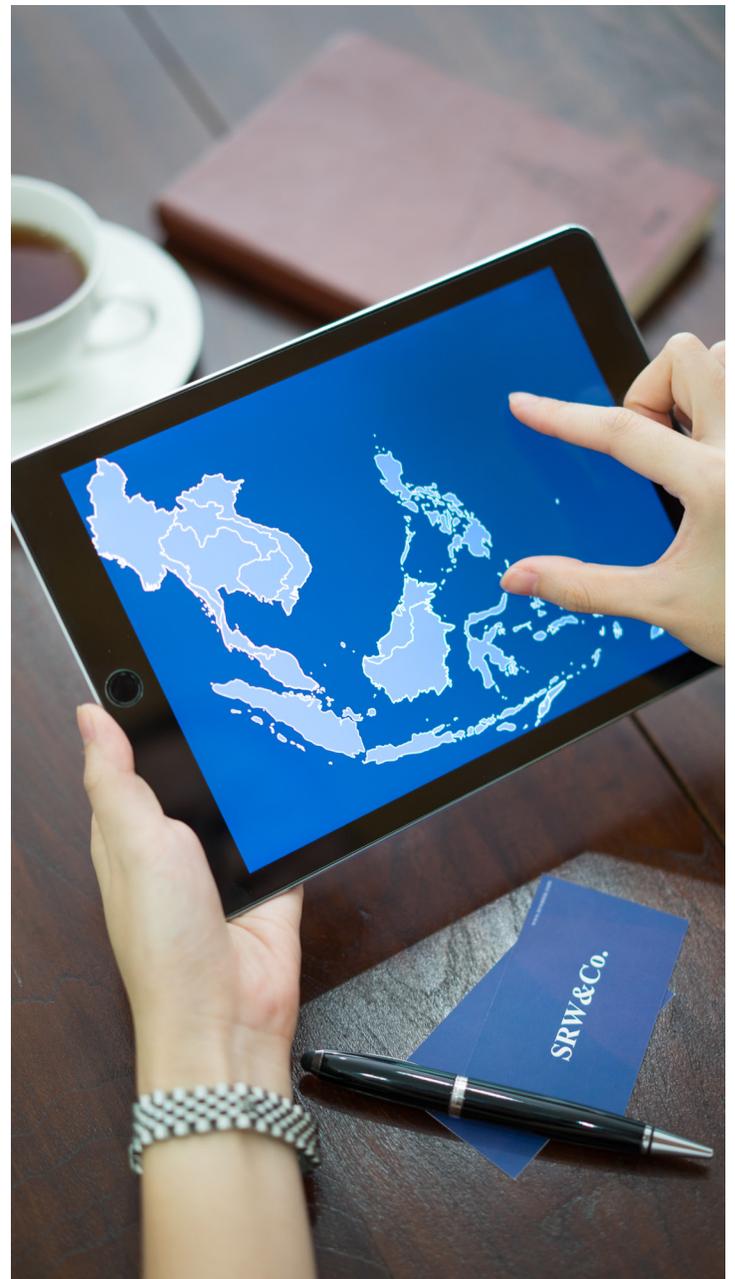

SRW&Co. is a regional management consulting firm providing specialist services in designing and implementing a full range of integrated people management and development solutions. Our focus and goal is clear-to help our clients improve their organizational performance through innovative and effective people management and development practices, which are customized to meet their specific needs and requirements.

Our consulting teams have extensive hands-on experience working for many leading corporations ranging from global consulting firms, multinational companies, to large local conglomerates. Combining global best practices with local experiences and cultural understanding, we help many leading global and local companies in the Asia-Pacific region to develop and implement a full spectrum of integrated people management and development solutions. We bring with us best practices and research in the field of people management and development to support our custom design work with clients in the region.

We believe, ultimately, it is the people who will make or break the company. Hence we adopt a balanced and holistic approach in our consulting framework and methodology by combining our technical strength in the custom design of the systems and working on change management and communication to win over the hearts and minds of our clients in the effective implementation of the systems. We believe the acid test of our deliverables in any consulting assignment lies in the effective implementation of the systems we designed to deliver tangible results and value. Hence our design has the built-in implementation module as an integral part of the solution we offer to our clients which is the hallmark of our bench-strength.

Finally, we measure our success as a consulting firm in alignment with the successes of our clients and strategic partners, and the successes of our own people in becoming dedicated professionals who passionately live our values and deliver at their best to meet (and exceed) our clients' expectations.

PROGRAMME INFORMATION

THE CITY OF LONDON

London needs no introduction. With a population of over 8 million and more than 300 languages spoken, the capital is the largest and most global city in Europe. A 21st century metropolis with history stretching back to the Roman Empire, London has become a contemporary economic, political, and cultural leader. Over 40 higher education institutions are based in the capital, which makes London the largest concentration of research and academic teaching in Europe. Furthermore, the city is considered the world's biggest financial centre and most popular investment destination. With six international airports and the Eurostar, the capital is also a global travel hub and the world's most-visited city. LSE and London share far more than the name: LSE's relationship with the capital is intrinsic. Like London, LSE is diverse, open to the world, vibrant and fully engaged in the conversations that truly matter. Being at the very heart of things in central London, both intellectually and physically, the London and LSE experience is unashamedly urban and metropolitan with a truly global reach.

TEACHING VENUE

The teaching venue is a critical part of shaping learning at LSE. Space shapes the way the rest of our senses engage in the visual and verbal interactions taking place in LSE teaching venues and among the members of the LSE community. Located on LSE campus in central London, our executive education teaching spaces are both versatile and interesting with a calm relaxed ambiance. Furthermore, the central London location in the City of Westminster offers an endless array of cultural and historic experiences and an unparalleled environment to visit, study and engage with high-calibre faculty and the wider LSE community. As a global centre for economics, politics and culture, our location places our students and staff on the doorstep of the latest developments in business, policy-making and cultural matters worldwide. The physical spaces are supplemented, furthermore, with a virtual learning environment available exclusively online to our executive education participants, which rounds up the overall LSE education experience with an increased learning engagement and enhanced learning outcomes.

EXTERNAL VISITS AND EXTRACURRICULAR EVENTS

A number of external visits and extracurricular events will round off the programme by enhancing and complementing the academic contents of the programme, thus enabling participants to gain maximum benefit from their time in London. External visits and extracurricular events will widen participation and help transform the programme into an executive learning community in which participants will be able to engage with a range of audiences to challenge assumptions, verify arguments and consolidate knowledge in experiential and social ambiances. External visits in the form of select institutional visits and off-campus activities will put the academic content into an applied context and participants will have the opportunity to learn first-hand about the latest trends in international business, entrepreneurship and innovation strategies and to explore their own leadership style and organisational culture. Extracurricular events in the form of receptions and a VIP dinner will bring faculty, expert practitioners and programme participants together and provide invaluable networking opportunities in elegant and exclusive settings within central London.

REGISTRATION

Applications are accepted on a first-come, first-served basis. Early registration is recommended.

TRAVEL & ACCOMMODATION

The cost of travel, accommodation and visa will be borne by the participants.

We will recommend the hotel within walking distance to the campus. We suggest all participants make hotel reservations as early as possible to secure rooms during the period.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND ?

This programme is aimed at those senior executives who have responsibilities for strategic leadership and for improving their company's performance.

Particularly, this programme is very relevant to CEOs, members of Boards of Directors, members of Boards of Commissioners or senior executives who are about to assume top management positions.

The programme is applicable for executives working in both the public sector and the private sector across industries.

PROGRAMME AGENDA & SYNOPSIS

MONDAY, 25th MARCH 2019

Strategic scenarios in a world of constant change

Day 1 will explore the meaning of strategy and focus on the analysis of its key areas, including strategic decision making with particular attention to the global financial crisis and strategic trends with an emphasis on shaping power and a strategic international environment. The new truth of the early twenty-first century, that is that the Western world we have known is fast losing its pre-eminence to be replaced by a new international system, will be investigated and lead to a discussion on new strategic political scenarios and their meaning for the global economic system in general as well as for ASEAN economies. The day will finish with looking at contemporary trends that shape the new global economy and examining post-financial crisis scenarios for growth and investment, high quality human capital and technological transformations as well as their impact on the world of business, banking and finance, followed by the programme opening reception. The key themes of Day 1 will include:

Strategy in a changing world

- Professor Saul Estrin, Department of Management, LSE
- Professor Emeritus Michael Cox, Department of International Relations, LSE

Power shifts, economic change and the decline of the West?

- Professor Emeritus Michael Cox, Department of International Relations, LSE

Post-Financial Crisis Scenarios for growth and investment

- Professor Jeffrey M. Chwieroth, Department of International Relations, LSE

TUESDAY, 26th MARCH 2019

Entrepreneurship, innovation and strategy in the age of change

Day 2 will analyse the circumstances and specific challenges that are redefining the drivers of performance for the public and private sector entities: commonalities, parallels and distinguishing features will be explored in case studies and lead to building up essential knowledge of organisational behaviour, such as leadership, teams and motivation. The approach will aim to showcase the managerial skills required to catalyse the changes needed to launch and lead successful entrepreneurial ventures within organisations. Furthermore, attention will be drawn to current cross cutting questions of what entrepreneurs must be aware of and be able to do to release entrepreneurial potential in different-sized enterprises with a focus on medium and larger entities as well as multinational-organisations and SOEs. Programme participants will be encouraged to think about their roles and consider the opportunities to promote innovative strategies in organisations. Finally, practical insights into assembling and managing teams, raising capital and scaling within entrepreneurial ventures will be discussed, and cover both business entrepreneurship in small and medium enterprises (SMEs) and large corporations, with a special focus on state-owned enterprises (SOEs), followed by an external visit to round off the theme. The key themes of Day 2 will include:

Business strategy: drivers of performance for public and private sector entities

- Professor Saul Estrin, Department of Management, LSE

Successful entrepreneurship within organisations

- Professor Saul Estrin, Department of Management, LSE

Entrepreneurship and innovation in the age of change

- Professor Saul Estrin, Department of Management, LSE
-

WEDNESDAY, 27th MARCH 2019

Innovation and public policy

Day 3 will examine various effects of investment at the local, regional and global level. It will assess factors and considerations that should be taken into account while making strategic decisions which are needed to ensure desired economic and social outcomes. The day will further explore the impact of public policy on economic and organisational innovation around the world. In particular, emphasis will be placed on sustainable and innovative approaches to business where international practices of different businesses will be examined and discussed. The day will be rounded off with a panel discussion with business leaders on UK-ASEAN future business opportunities, chaired by the Programme Academic Directors, and followed by a VIP dinner with a keynote speaker and a networking event. The key themes of Day 3 will include:

Making investment decisions on a local, regional and global level

- Professor Riccardo Crescenzi, Department of Geography and Environment, LSE

The impact of public policy on innovation: global case studies

- Professor Riccardo Crescenzi, Department of Geography and Environment, LSE

UK-ASEAN: future business opportunities

- Professor Emeritus Michael Cox, Department of International Relations, LSE

- Professor Saul Estrin, Department of Management, LSE

THURSDAY, 28th MARCH 2019

Achieving leadership excellence

Day 4 will consider how transformational leadership contributes to leadership effectiveness. How to extend skills that are critical to professional development and look at behavioural and neurological aspects of leadership and group decision-making processes will be discussed. The sessions will also examine the varied demands that organisations place on leaders, and the mechanisms organisations put in place to secure the supply of leadership behaviours. Specifically, a range of public and private sector examples from a variety of cultures will be explored and leadership characteristics and techniques considered in the context of robust analytical frameworks. The aim of this approach will enable participants to understand how to build behavioural styles and skill sets that complement individual leadership preferences with the aim for each participant to have a clear and confident grasp of his/her leadership style along with a tailored development plan to ensure that he/she continues to grow as a leader. The day will finish with an external visit in form of an off-campus activity to round off the theme with an applied approach. The key themes of Day 4 will include:

Leadership & organisational leadership

- Dr Rebecca Newton, Department of Management, LSE

Organisational culture and transformational leadership

- Dr Rebecca Newton, Department of Management, LSE

Developing leadership style and leadership presence

- Dr Emma Soane, Department of Management, LSE

FRIDAY, 29th MARCH 2019

Technological innovation and the future of work

Day 5 will look at scenarios for growth and the quest for high quality human capital, technological transformations and their impact on businesses. The day will explore the future challenges and opportunities of business innovation and human productivity in an age of digitalization and automation. Special attention will be paid to state-of-the-art technologies, e.g. artificial intelligence, robotics, neuronal networks, etc., and how they may impact the world economy in general, and ASEAN economies in particular. Drawing on cutting edge research, the day will also look at how the nature of work has been changing and analyse how digitalization and automation impact human productivity and innovation. Discussions on the impacts of technology in business and beyond will highlight those industries which may be more affected by technological change and identify opportunities and threats in tomorrow's dynamic business landscape. The day will finish with concluding wrap up and action planning activity by the Programme Academic Directors, followed by the certificate ceremony and closing reception. The key themes of Day 5 will include:

Digital transformation: challenges and opportunities for businesses in the 21st century

- Dr Carsten Sørensen, Department of Management, LSE

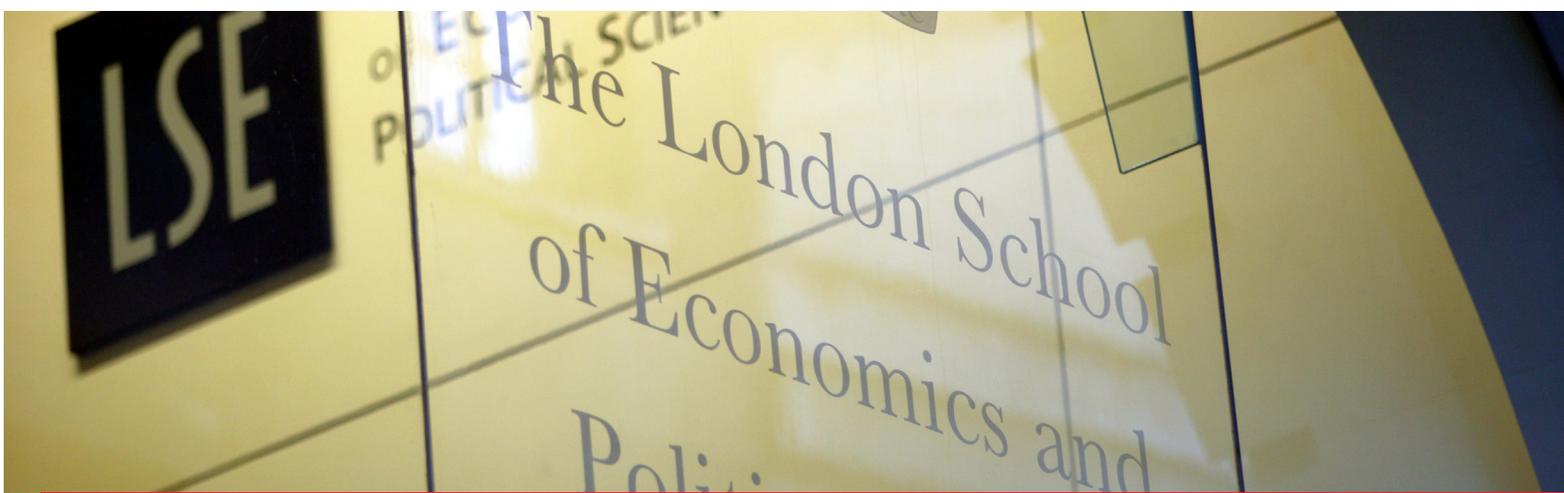

The future of work

- Dr Carsten Sørensen, Department of Management, LSE

Assessment tools for global leadership

- Professor Emeritus Michael Cox, Department of International Relations, LSE

- Professor Saul Estrin, Department of Management, LSE

FACULTY BIOGRAPHIES

Professor Jeffrey M. Chwieroth is currently a Professor of International Political Economy at the Department of International Relations at the London School of Economics and Political Science. At the LSE he also serves as the Director of the MSc. in International Political Economy. Previously, Jeffrey was a Visiting Studies in Vienna (Institut für Höhere Studie), a Visiting Scholar in the Research Department of the International Monetary Fund, Assistant Professor in the Department of Political Science at Syracuse University, and a Jean Monnet Postdoctoral Fellow in the Robert Schuman Centre for Advanced Studies at the European University Institute.

Professor Jeffrey M. Chwieroth

Department of International Relations, LSE

Professor Emeritus Michael Cox is Director of LSE IDEAS and Emeritus Professor of International Relations at LSE. He helped establish the Cold War Studies Centre in 2004 and expand it into IDEAS, a foreign policy centre based at the LSE which aims to bring the academic and policy works together. In a 2014 international survey, IDEAS was ranked 2nd in the world amongst the best university affiliated Think Tanks, Professor Cox has held several senior professional positions in the field of international relations including Chair of the European Consortium of Political Research, Transatlantic Fellow at the Royal United Services Institute London, and Senior Fellow at the Nobel Institute in Oslo amongst others. He is now general editor of two successful book series: Palgrave's Rethinking World Politics and Routledge's Cold War History. Professor Cox is a well-known speaker on global affairs and has lectured in the United States, Australia, Asia, and in the EU.

Professor Emeritus Michael Cox

Department of International Relations, LSE

Professor Riccardo Crescenzi is a Professor of Economic Geography at the London School of Economics and is the current holder of a European Research Council (ERC) Grant. He is also an Associate at the Centre for International Development, Harvard Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University and he is affiliated with the European Institute, Centre for Economic Performance (CEP) and the Spatial Economics Research Centre (SERC) at the LSE. He has been a Jean Monnet Fellow at the European University Institute (EUI) and a Visiting Scholar at Harvard University and at the University of California Los Angeles (UCLA). He has provided academic advice to, amongst others, the European Investment Bank (EIB), the European Parliament, the European Commission (DG Regional Policy), the Inter-American Development Bank (IADB) and various national and regional governments. His research is focused on regional economic development, innovation, Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) and multinationals and the analysis and evaluation of European Union policies. His 5-year ERC research project looks at the location strategies of FDI around the world, at their impacts on the host economies and at the evaluation of policies for the attraction and retention of FDI.

Professor Riccardo Crescenzi

Department of Geography and Environment, LSE

Professor Saul Estrin is a Professor of Management and founding Head of Department. He was formerly Adecco Professor of Business and Society at London Business School where he was the Research Director of the Centre for New and Emerging Markets and Director of the CJS Middle Europe Centre. Saul was also Deputy Dean (Faculty and Research) at London Business School for six years as well as briefly Acting Dean and a School governor for eight years. Professor Estrin's main areas of research are emerging markets, with a particular focus on entrepreneurship and international business issues. He has published more than one hundred papers in scholarly journals as well as numerous chapters and reports. Professor Estrin also has considerable practitioner experience. He was for twelve years a non-executive director of Barings Emerging Markets and was also a member of the Academic Panel of the postal regulator, Postcomm.

Professor Saul Estrin

Department of Management, LSE

Dr Carsten Sørensen

Department of Management, LSE

Dr Carsten Sørensen is Associate Professor (Reader) in Digital innovation within Department of Management at The London School of Economics and Political Science (carstensorensen.com). He holds a Ph.D. in computer science from Aalborg University, Denmark. He has since the 1980s researched a variety of aspects relating to innovating the digital enterprise, such as enterprise mobility (enterprisemobilitybook.com), and the innovation dynamics of mobile infrastructures and platforms (digitalinfrastructures.org). He has published widely within Information Systems since 1989 and has extensive experience as a Principal Investigator on a number of national, EU, and industry research grants in the UK and Sweden. Carsten is presently Senior Editor for The Information Systems Journal.

Dr Emma Soane

Department of Management, LSE

Dr Emma Soane joined the Department of Management in 2008. She teaches organisational behaviour and leadership to postgraduate students and executives. Dr Soane holds BSc Psychology (University of Leicester), an MSc Occupational Psychology (University of Sheffield), and a PhD Psychology (University of Sheffield). She is a Chartered Psychologist, a Chartered Scientist and an Associate Fellow of the British Psychological Society. Before joining the department, Dr Soane worked as an assistant psychologist in mental health and learning disabilities services at several NHS trusts. She was a research fellow at London Business School and a senior lecturer the reader at Kingston Business School. Dr Soane has travelled and worked in more 40 countries. Dr Soane's research considers how interactions between individual differences and work environments shape decisions, performance and risk taking. She examines the ways that people make choices about risk, their engagement with their work, and considers the implications for leaders and followers. Dr Soane has extensive field work experience in public and private sector organisations, including government departments, local government, NHS hospitals, manufacturing, waste management and top-tier investment banks.

Dr Rebecca Newton is a business psychologist, executive coach, advisor, consultant and facilitator of executive education programmes globally. She is a specialist in leadership, coaching, influence, culture and change, and creates inspiring resources and professional development experiences for the most astute clients. Her practical insights, grounded in leading research, have established her as a highly sought-after speaker and advisor. She has worked globally with leaders from some of the world's most influential organisations. Dr Newton has spent over 10 years lecturing at the London School of Economics and Political Science in Leadership, Change and Professional Development where she is a Senior Visiting Fellow. Rebecca also spent time as a Visiting Fellow at Harvard University, and has spoken on Intergroup Leadership at the Kennedy School of Government. She has provided executive education for the University of Cambridge, and is a Faculty member of Duke Corporate Education. She serves on the Editorial Board of the Journal of Change Management, has been interviewed by the financial Times and is regular blog contributor to the Harvard Business Review and Forbes.com.

Dr Rebecca Newton

Department of Management, LSE

WHAT THE PARTICIPANTS SAY ABOUT THE AGLP ASEAN GLOBAL LEADERSHIP PROGRAMME

“Excellent, an insightful course! A must for all executive leaders!”

“This programme is a good refreshment from my daily office activities, and to make sure things we are doing are in the right direction.”

“I enjoyed the programme, it opened and expanded my thinking on the new leadership imperatives needed to meet today's and future challenges.”

“I got new insights, new knowledge, new experiences and new connections.”

“Very informative and challenged my thoughts on the concept of innovation to drive business.”

“Love all the presentations. Many takeaway values from all the sessions.”

AGLP

ASEAN GLOBAL LEADERSHIP PROGRAMME

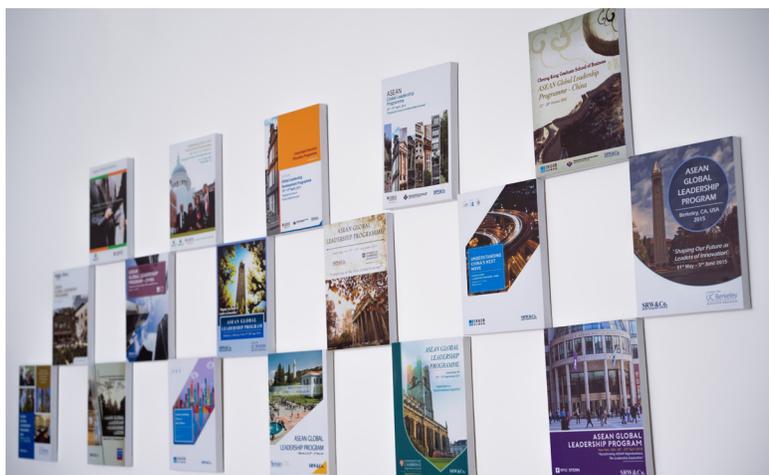

The ASEAN Global Leadership Programme (AGLP) is a custom designed 5-day programme focusing on the four key themes of Globalization, Entrepreneurship, Innovation and Leadership. The first AGLP was launched in 2009 in collaboration with the Cambridge Judge Business School Executive Education in UK, followed by the Cheung Kong Graduate School of Business in China, the UC Berkeley Haas School of Business in USA, the London Business School in UK and the New York University Stern School of Business.

The AGLP provides a learning platform for the participants to address the challenges and opportunities in the AEC context, while promoting business networking for the participants from the South East Asia countries.

The AGLP is aimed at those senior executives working in both the public sector and the private sector across industries in the South East Asia region who have responsibilities for strategic leadership and for improving their company's performance. To date, the AGLP Alumni comprise some 300 top executives at the C-suite and Board level in the corporate sector, including policy makers and regulators from the public sector.

In support of the mission of executive education in the South East Asia region, SRW&Co. launched the AGLP Scholarship as a CSR initiative in collaboration with the ASEAN Business Advisory Council in 2016. The annual ASEAN Business Awards are conferred by the ASEAN Business Advisory Council to recognize outstanding ASEAN enterprises in various categories, with spotlight on the promising ASEAN small and medium sized enterprises (SMEs) that have the potential of becoming global economic players. The AGLP

Scholarship is granted to the selected ASEAN Business Awards Winners to attend the AGLP in a global business school. This strategic partnership with the ASEAN Business Advisory Council across the 10-member ASEAN countries is a firm endorsement of the AGLP as a signature leadership development program for the leaders in the ASEAN countries.

AGLP GROUP PHOTOS

2018 AGLP New York University Stern School of Business Group Photo

2017 AGLP Cambridge Judge Business School Group Photo

2017 AGLP UC Berkeley Haas School of Business Group Photo

2016 AGLP London Business School Group Photo

2016 AGLP UC Berkeley Haas School of Business AGLP Group Photo

2014 AGLP Cambridge Judge Business School Group Photo

2012 AGLP Cheung Kong Graduate School of Business Group Photo

2011 AGLP Cambridge Judge Business School Group Photo

 Custom
Programmes

London School of Economics and Political Science
Houghton Street
London
WC2A 2AE
UK

<http://www.lse.ac.uk>

SRW&Co.

Grha SRW&Co.
Jl. Antene I No.5C
Radio Dalam, Kebayoran Baru
Jakarta Selatan 12140
Tel: +62-21 2277 6060
Indonesia

+62-813 1030 4875
+62-813 8468 3340

Malaysia
+60-17 853 3188

Email
jolanda_sadrach@srwasia.com
winda_marliana@srwasia.com

<http://www.srwasia.com>